New Year's Eve brought thousands for Ball Drop

By Gari Voss

As 2025 arrived, the sea of onlookers prepared to celebrate when the largest New Year's Eve Ball in Michigan descended above Main Stage on the City of Allegan's Riverside Park. Photo: P. Johnson

The air was crisp, and the precipitation magically stopped for the 8pm opening of New Year's Eve 2025. Revelers began arriving early in anticipation of good food, music, and ice skating. Yup, the ice skating rink had a line waiting with bated breath for the first skates to be given out and at-tached to feet. With the passing of time, Riverfront Park in Allegan turned into standing room only in preparation for the midnight drop of the largest New Year's Eve Ball in Michigan.

If anyone was in the area of the Riverfront Park during the hours leading up to the official 8pm opening, they would have seen Parker Johnson and Ryan Burza, Allegan's Downtown and Promo-tion duo, positioning the tents, fencing, electronics, lights and heat involved in the event.

"We felt like drowned rats," chuckled Johnson. "The beauty was that the precipitation stopped before the event was slated to begin and did not return until after the ball dropped." Maybe the pos-itive was that the post-event precipitation was snow rather than wet, slushy rain.

Visitors to NYE!25 entered a fairyland of lights and music. Entering across the boardwalk from the Allegan District Library gave a panoramic look from the Veteran's Monyment across Riverfront Park, Mahan Park and to the brilliantly lit Second Street Bridge. Central to the panorama was Michigan's largest New Year's Eve Ball looming over Main Stage.

"This year, we changed the positioning of the ball drop to be over the stage," explained John-son. "That brought a lot of positive feedback. The location made it easier for folks to know how to navigate the event, and at the end of the night, people could congregate toward the music for the ball drop."

Arriving at the end of the Boardwalk, event trippers came to the fencing that defined the Silent Disco dance floor (basically the summer Splash Pad). First-time visitors may have wondered why the people wearing flashing earmuffs were dancing around shaking their booties, but soon they were standing in line to join the rhythmic movement.

"The Silent Disco became busy earlier this year," stated Johnson. "Usually, it gets busy by 11:30pm, but there were times when all 150 pairs of headphones were in use."

The disco headphones are rented from Ice Guru. The city has partnered with them for the ice sculpting for past NYE celebrations and a photo booth during Bridgefest. When they added Silent Disco earphones to their inventory, Johnson decided to give them a try.

To get to the reservation desk for the free disco headphones, guests would traverse the line of food trucks along with Tantrick Brewing Co. and Tantrick Down Under. Lines had already formed by 8:30pm with one of the longest at Coffee Rescue.

"Only a handful of food trucks operate year around," interjected Johnson. "We have been lucky that Coffee Rscue, Patty Matters, and Big Moe's BBQ have been at every NYE event since the first one in 2017. Mobile Crave and Around Baking Co. joined a couple years ago."

Once through the food truck path, families arrived at the brightly lit ice skating rink. Johnson had noticed that ACP Entertainment, the company the city uses for the Ferris wheel and other car-nival rides for Bridgefest, offered a new attraction. "I saw it in their catalog and thought how fun it would be. So, we budgeted differently this year and were able to add it," said Johnson. "There was a line waiting for skates before we opened at 8pm."

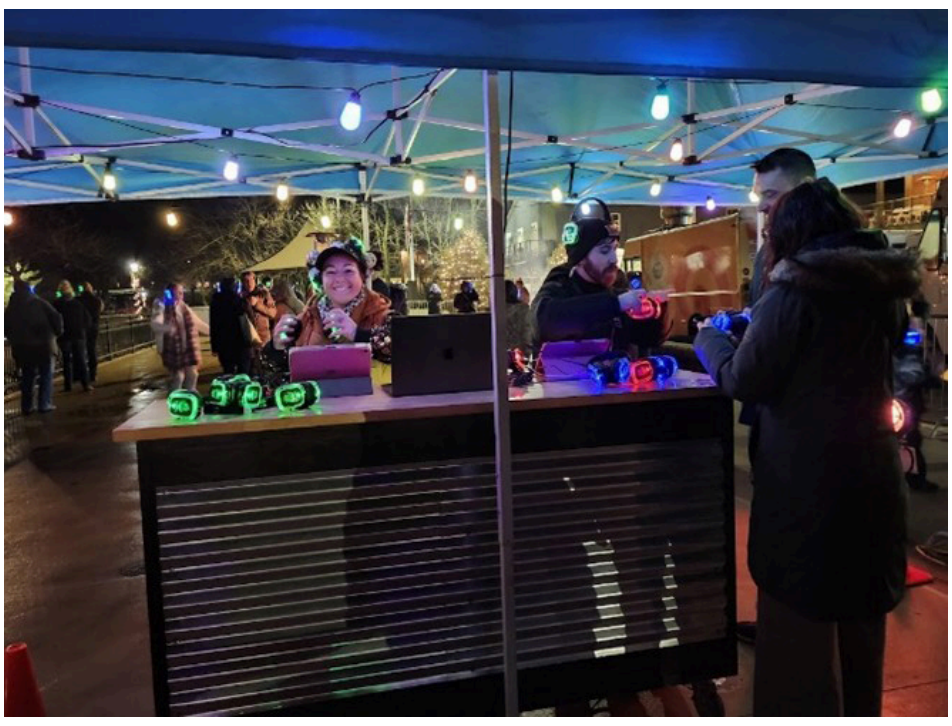
Immerging from the activities and food, event goers had a clear view of the stage with the band in full modulation, and the New Year's Eve Ball hanging above. Trapped on Mars made their de-but on the Riverfront Main Stage by opening the event at 8pm. Then In the Gray, a summer River-front Stage favorite, took the stage at 10pm and welcomed in 2025.

Recognition for the event's success needs to be given to the Allegan DPW workers who coor-dinated the fence panels and fire pits, plus the NYE Ball. Add to those, the partners who set the ice rink and earphones. Then to Johnson and Burza who put on the finishing touches across the River-front before the event and coordinated takedown.

During the event, DPW workers kept the fires burning, the trash picked up, and the restrooms stocked. The County Sheriff Reserve deputies, city officers, and members of the fire department had a presence to keep the area safe.

"We really appreciate the presence of the officers and the fire department," acknowledged Johnson. "There are a lot of people in a relatively small space. It is reassuring to have those people available."

The Allegan County Emergency Management Unit asked if they could set up during the event. Their vehicle was set on Brady Street with a unit near the Mahan Park Gazebo. This group puts together emergency action plans for city events, but this is the first time they had a presence during New Year's Eve. Visitors were welcome to ask questions and learn more about the Unit's work.



Landria and Parker Johnson welcomed visitors to the Silent Disco area. This was one of the most popular activities, and at times, all 150 sets of headphones were being used out on the dance floor. Photo: G. Voss

The Synthetic Ice Rink was a first-time attraction. Skaters could go alone or with a friend or use a plastic walker to prevent falls as they skated around the rink. Photo: G. Voss

Allegan County Sheriff's Office K9s receive body armor

By Sgt. Blair Kacos & G. Voss

The Allegan County Sheriff's Office announced the donation of body armor for two of Allegan County's finest – K9s Zadok and Kyro.

"Kyro and Zadok will receive bullet and stab protective vests thanks to a charitable donation from non-profit organization Vested Interest in K9s, Inc.," explained Sgt. Blair Kacos. "The vests will be embroidered with the sentiment 'Born to Love-Trained to Serve-Loyal Always' with deliv-ery expected within ten weeks.

This is not the first time Vested Interest in K9s, Inc. furnished vests for Allegan County K9s. The nonprofit charity was established in 2009 with the mission "to provide bullet and stab protec-tive vests and other assistance to dogs of law enforcement and related agencies throughout the United States."

"This potentially life-saving body armor for four-legged K9 officers is U.S. made, custom fitted, and NIJ certified," explained Kacos. "Since its inception, Vested Interest in K9s, Inc. has provided over 5,878 vests to K9s in all 50 states at a value of $6.9 million. The funding has been made pos-sible by both private and corporate donations."

To be eligible, dogs must be serving in the U.S., at least 20 months old, and actively employed and certified with law enforcement or related agencies. Also taken into consideration for eligibility are K9s with expired vests.

In order for Vested Interest to meet their mission, this will not be an easy feat. There are an es-timated 30,000 law enforcement K9s throughout the United States.

Passionate individuals, organizations or businesses should know that Vested Interest in K9s, Inc. accepts tax-deductible contributions in any amount. A single donation of $1,050 will sponsor one vest that has a value of $1800.00. The vest weighs an average of 4-5 lb. and comes with a five-year warranty.

For additional information about the donation, contact Lieutenant Brandon Berens (269) 673-0500. To learn about Vested Interest and/or volunteer opportunities, call 508-824-6978. Laketown to make manager decision on Jan. 8

The Laketown Township Board of Trustees has put contract negotiations for a new manager on hold until Jan. 8, with some members saying they want to open negotiations with another candidate. By that time, the current manager will have retired.

In the absence of a manager, Supervisor Steve Ringelberg will handle day-to-day office operations, the board decided at a special meeting on Monday, Dec. 30, 2024.

The process

Long-time Manager Al Meshkin announced in July that he was retiring on Jan. 3, 2025. The replacement process began in August and on Nov. 13, the township board approved negotiations with Bob Genetski, choosing the current Allegan County Clerk and Register of Deeds over Brandon Mersman, city manager of Bronson, Mich.

Ringelberg negotiated a contract with Genetski for $110,000 with the possibility of a bonus. The job advertisement posted a salary range of $115,000 to $140,000.

On Dec. 11, the board failed to approve that contract with Genetski.

At that meeting, Ringelberg and Treasurer Jim Johnson supported the contract with Genetski, saying he is well-known, a quick-learner and was responsive to constituent needs when he was serving in the State House of Representatives.

Clerk Jim Delaney and Trustee Mike Koeman want to hire Mersman because of his experience in local government. Trustee Mark Timmerman was on Zoom for that meeting and by law could not vote. A tie means a motion fails.

A special meeting scheduled for Dec. 17 to address the issue was canceled due to a lack of quorum, the number of board members needed to hold a meeting. The Laketown Township board needs three members present.

Two candidates

The special Dec. 30 meeting was the earliest the board could meet again. Local government meetings between the Christmas and New Year holidays are rare. Four of the five board members were present. Johnson was absent due to Covid, according to Ringelberg. The four others were present.

Koeman said Mersman would not need training before starting.

"Nothing against Genetski," he said, "but sitting here, having to make this decision, I have to go with what's best for the township."

Delaney said Mersman has all the needed qualifications to lead the township.

"Everything adds up to Mr. Mersman here," he said.

Timmerman made the motion to table the contract issue with Genetski until the meeting on Jan. 8 when the board will also discuss possibly offering a contract to Mersman. The motion passed with Ringelberg voting against it.

The Jan. 8 meeting is at 5 p.m. at the township hall, 4338 Beeline Road.

At the previous meeting, Koeman and Delaney supported negotiating with both Genetski and Mersman simultaneously.

Supervisor as manager

In the meantime, the board voted on Dec. 30 unanimously to assign the duties of the outgoing manager to Ringelberg until an interim or permanent manager is in place. Some of Meshkin's duties include acting as zoning administrator, water and wastewater official, planning director, financial manager and personnel director.

Ringelberg will also handle day-to-day operations of the office and staff.

At the Jan. 8 meeting, the board will discuss the possibility of compensating Ringelberg for the manager duties.

Allegan Area ESA Tech Center to celebrate new auto tech building

The Allegan Area ESA Tech Center is thrilled to announce the grand opening of its brand-new Auto Tech Building, designed to provide students with cutting-edge facilities for hands-on learning and career preparation in the automotive industry. A ribbon cutting ceremony and open house will mark this milestone on January 9, 2025.

The event will begin with a Ribbon Cutting Ceremony at 3:30 PM, featuring remarks from Superintendent William Brown and Michigan Department of Education State Superintendent Dr. Michael F. Rice. Following the ceremony, attendees are invited to explore the new building during an Open House, which will include guided tours, live demonstrations, and opportunities to meet the instructors and students who make the program a success.

"This new facility represents a significant investment in the future of our students and community," said Superintendent William Brown. "It will allow us to enhance career and technical education, preparing students for meaningful careers in the automotive industry."

2500 county residents to receive survery

By John Raffel
Correspondent

ALLEGAN — The third version of the National Community Survey will soon be sent to 2,500 county residents in a statistically balanced sample of the county's population. The six-page survey includes two broad areas: local questions on specific issues affecting county residents and a national portion that seeks to profile Allegan County in comparison with other local governments across the nation.

After those sampled have had an opportunity to respond to the survey, former commissioner James Storey said a website will be opened for any resident to response to the questions. Local questions include law enforcement issues, including cyber-crimes; day care and child care availability, housing availability and gaps, the physical condition of housing, implementation of the county's appetite for a parks and recreation millage, how residents prefer to receive information, the level of preparation residents have for emergencies, and how residents prefer to receive emergency information: sirens, notification to cell phones, or something else.

The Board of Commissioners approved the survey at its December 12, 2024, meeting, but approval of the cover letter will be considered at the board's January 9 meeting. The previous two surveys in 2020 and 2022 helped the board set priorities for funding and programs.

Wayland DDA reflects on 2024 accomplishments

By Holli McPherson & Gari Voss

The City of Wayland has worked diligently over the last few years with the support of Main Street Wayland to become a destination for those who are looking for events that will gather to-gether individuals, families and groups with diverse backgrounds and preferences. Looking back on 2024, Executive Director of the Wayland Downtown Development Authority (DDA) Holli McPherson identified some of the events that brought residents and visitors out onto the Wayland streets.

"Between the Buns provided a strong start to 2024 for Downtown Wayland," reflects McPher-son. "Eleven businesses joined in the competition to create signature sandwiches. The patrons vot-ed for their favorite sandwiches then the judges judicated. We raised over $1,000 for the Hand2Hand program that provides meals for school-aged children. Wayland Hotel Bar and Grill won the judges' vote and Sandbar Grill won the popular vote.

In February, the city added a Chocolate Walk. Chocolate lovers and friends were invited to stroll the streets of Downtown Wayland and try a variety of delicious chocolate treats. A map was furnished so the public could participate in a free "SWEET adventure".

On the second Friday of each month from January to May, a Cocktail & Appetizer Trail was blazed through Wayland. Restaurants and eateries in Downtown Wayland created cocktails of the month at each participating location. These included non-alcoholic mocktail versions. Participants were encouraged to grab a booklet and get it marked each month to become eligible for prizes.

Wayland found a variety of ways to invite people to the community.

Thanks to the Main Street Vibrancy Grant Program, Wayland was able to create a new sign welcoming visitors to the city.

A Transformer wandering the streets during Monster Mash in Wayland brought smiles and admirers.

"Downtown Wayland received several grants last year, one being the Vibrancy Grant through the Michigan Economic Development Corporation (MEDC). With this grant, we were able to pur-chase a new Welcome Sign and speakers for Downtown Wayland," interjected McPherson.

The Main Street Vibrancy Grant Program is intended to provide grants of $25,000 to Select or Master level Michigan Main Street communities for projects that enhance the vibrancy and eco-nomic vitality of Michigan Main Street downtowns.

McPherson asserted, "2024 was a record for visitors with over 100,000 visitors to our down-town and events!

To encourage participation of a wide range of residents, the city also added an Art Alley creat-ed by their Junior DDA. This group of High Schoolers worked on projects downtown to help cre-ate a better place to live. The scarecrow decorating during October activated local businesses, or-ganizations, and families.

"We were able to add to our main events and grow them," explained McPherson. "Summerfest was a strong start to the prime vacation months and drew the largest crowd in years! Monster Mash grew to around 7,000 visitors, our largest event of the year! We had a Trunk or Treat with a Trans-former walking around, DJ, costume contest, and more! Snowfest, Block Party, and Concerts in the Park continued in 2024 as well as other activities for the family. Bike Night came back this year, and the attendance grew thanks to the West Michigan Combat Veteran Motorcycle Associa-tion."

The Foam area was extremely popular during Summerfest in Wayland.

Along with all this, Wayland welcomed a new manager, Erik Wilson, who was previously at Texas Township and Plainwell. The city leadership is excited to have him and see the great things to come.

While Wayland Main Street explored new and expanded events, the Wayland Area Chamber of Commerce continued working with area businesses in Wayland and the surrounding communi-ties. Not only did the Chamber support local businesses on Small Business Saturday, but they held the 20th Annual Wayland Community Expo and regular social events to promote education and networking.

The City of Wayland DDA and Main Street Wayland will continue to work hand-in-hand with the Wayland Area Chamber of Commerce to design and improve ways to spotlight the businesses and organizations as they pull together to provide a variety of events that bring together local resi-dents while drawing in visitors from a much wider geography.

LIVING WITH GRIEF

BY RONNIE EWING/ AFTERCARE SPECIALIST

LIVING WITH GRIEF, is a monthly column provided by Gorden Funeral Residence. Each month LIVING WITH GRIEF will feature some helpful advice, as you the reader move forward in your own personal grieving process, or simply want to be educated to help those whom you may know have recently experienced a loss, or traumatic event.

The Holidays were here, and now they are gone! How did you do? This time of the year can be not only hectic for our schedules, but also hard on mental health. Trying to fulfill obligations and invites can drive you crazy. Add trauma in the mix, and one can become the next reported terrorist. So what can you do about it? Take a chill pill!!! That's what my Mom used to say. She wasn't implying for me to get hooked on drugs, well maybe she was??? Kidding, but more than likely it was more like don't forget to breathe. Breathing can be a very therapeutic way of relieving stress. Deep inhale, hold, exhale, then repeat. I know it sounds kooky, but don't knock it till you've tried it. Especially inhaling through your nose. Then exhale through your mouth. You'll have more of a chance to avoid dizziness.

This is just one small way to relieve stress and anxiety we experience while, LIVING WITH GRIEF.

Residents tell winter storm driving experiences

By Cindy Sasser

The photo is courtesy of Kyle Maricle of Allegan from his dash cam; January of 2022 on 196 near South Haven. He's been driving semi tractor trailer for a decade. "Snow squalls popped up and caused several slide offs," he said.

Brian, a truck driver from outside of Allegan said, "it's a white-knuckle job sometimes. I've been in snow storms where I couldn't tell if I were still on the road or drifting off and hard to tell where exits were in the dark. I've also been on roads that looked clear but were slippery as could be. Scary feeling when your semi starts slipping and drifting in its own direction. All you can do is make slow movements and hope to keep it straight whether on the road or in the ditch."

Another man shared that he drives a propane truck for a living. He said he's out in all the storms and if people need propane, those roads likely aren't plowed.

One thing I've learned is that Michigan people are brave people! They get out there no matter what and do what they have to do!

My first time driving in a winter storm was a snow squall a few weeks ago. It was night time and I had to get home from work. I didn't have snow tires or any such experience (I grew up in Arizona). I opted for a back road as I was sliding badly and needed to take it slow. The trip was long, pitch dark, winding, with dear darting's, and very low visibility. As I finally arrived home an hour later, I cried.

I've driven in snow and ice around town and have even had to Starsky & Hutch it a couple of times, but I've never experienced anything like that before… it was a terrifying experience!

I'd like to share a few stories from people in Allegan County and some advice given.

Abigail from Otsego …

"Three or four years ago I was driving an old beater Buick with bald tires. This was soon after a big ice storm and a blizzard. Snow was coming down so hard you couldn't see 10 feet in front of the car. This Buick was like a boat. It floated over bumps and slid like a hockey player on ice. Was making the curve by the old folks trailer park on Ravine; everything was ice with 2 feet of snow on top. Pushing the snow and fighting to see past it; next thing I know, old Betsy started sliding. Wasn't no stopping it; her tires were slick as the road! I didn't hit gas, brake, or anything; just braced for what was coming while staring into the abyss and woods just after the curve. Next thing I know, I see a man dressed in all black head-to-toe hoofing it! I tell you my stomach dropped to my ass and I hammered down on that gas! I barely managed to get traction on the gravel just on the edge of the road… I barely missed the guy by a hair! I felt awful and kept driving out of sheer panic and embarrassment. Made it up to the next couple driveways and turned back to check on the man and offer a ride. No one around, no one to be found. No idea to this day where he went or who he was."

Crystal from Allegan …

"In the blow zone going from Allegan to Holland; zero visibility. Scary because you can't see anyone else. At least I had plow lights. Hazard lights help others see you also."

JoDanna from Holland …

"Christmas Eve 2017, driving from Illinois to Allegan, it took over 4 hours from just South of Michigan City along the lake shore in the middle of the night. I pulled up GPS to predict which way the road was curving while hubby kept the minivan tires moving. If you stopped, you were stuck. Even following a snow plow offered very little relief. Luckily our kiddos were too little to understand how bad it was. We were new here and didn't realize that if we just cut inland more, it would have been night and day different. NEVER again!"

Diane from Allegan ...

"Make sure you have snacks, water, your car gassed up, blankets, foot and hand warmers, your phone charged up, etc. Good winter tires are a must. If you're stuck, get out and clear snow away from your exhaust frequently to avoid carbon monoxide poisoning which can be fatal."

Jeannie from Holland …

"I remember a few years back when the piles of snow on the side of M40 were 15-20 feet tall! Those whiteouts and blizzard conditions were horrible between Hamilton and Holland. Got out of work and it took 45 minutes to get to Hamilton due to stopped traffic and acci-dents. One lady came out of a whiteout doing 30-40mph and lost control. Then her car was sitting dead across the lane. I was praying no one would hit her coming out of that whiteout. Our lane started going so I have no idea how it ended. Drive slow, don't get frustrated at people doing 20 -30mph in bad conditions; you don't know the traction or experience level they have. Don't drive under the influence of anything and keep emergency supplies in your car when the weather is bad."

Lory from Kentwood …

"My father gave me wise advice: Always keep one set of your tires on snow for traction. When climbing an icy incline, use first gear, your tires will turn slower giving you more con-trol. Always drive the speed necessary for road conditions; it will not be what's posted. Keep distance between you and the car ahead of you. Gradually slow down before you come to a stop sign or red light, you'll need the time to safely stop. Apply your brakes gently and slow-ly, too fast or too hard, you'll lose control. Be aware; a road may look wet but it's likely to be black ice. Never use your high beams; it's bad news for you and for those coming toward you."

Julie from Allegan …

"If the shit shines, the shit is slippery!"

Stacy from Plainwell …

"I was driving my husband and myself to work; our work places were about 5 minutes apart. It appeared to be fine until I hit a patch of black ice. Tried to slow down and the vehicle did a 360, went on two tires, almost flipped, then slammed back down! Tore one tire right off the rim! The spare tire was stuck and I had no tools so my dad came and helped us change the tire. No other damage thankfully. I got us to work doing 35mph the whole way. I left finger grooves in the steering wheel from white knuckling it so hard."

Lynda from Monterey Township …

"Winter was fun back in the day when we would load up and go "snow bucking" … you drive your ride directly into the snow drift! Don't forget the shovels and kitty litter just in case. Fun and dress warm! It wouldn't be complete if you didn't do a few donuts in a parking lot."

Ashley and Kellie from Otsego …

"My cousin Kellie and I worked together and I was driving us on M40 North going slow; it was allllll ice and terrible out. Came around a small curve, lost control, and spun a couple times. There was an oncoming dump truck; thought we were gonna die but hit the guardrail instead. Lost a bunch of pieces of the car but we made it to our destination and helped our patient!"

Kellie added that it was "hilarious and scary all at the same time." I think it's great they can have a sense of humor about it! On a serious note, Ashley gave some great instruction:

"If you start sliding, spinning, or losing control, take your foot off the gas, put your car in neutral to stop the drive train, and steer INTO the way you're sliding or spinning. If you steer away from where your car is naturally going, you could flip or make it worse.

"Learn the brakes on your car. If you have anti locks, which you probably do, push and HOLD the breaks. Do not pump them. If you're going downhill or think you're going to slide, put the car in neutral and take your foot off the gas. Then engage your breaks.

"Also keep in mind that deer are moving this time of year so always watch for them. Hit the deer/animal/object - don't swerve!"

Brian advises to make slow movements changing lanes, etc. Slow down. "As Dorothy once said, 'there's no place like home.' If the weather is extremely bad and you're not comfortable driving in it. Don't. Stay home. Stay safe."

And cheers to the amazing drivers of the snow plows and the salt trucks!

Congress should not ban Tik Tok

MIKE'S MUSINGS

MIKE WILCOX

■ PUBLISHER ■

This been a new push in Congress to out right ban or heavily regulate Tic Tok. I'm neither a user nor am I fan of social media in general. However, to ban or heavily regulate the most popular social media platform in our country, and do nothing to regulate its competitors, is Congress caving to the anti-China sentiment.

You see Tik Tok originated in China. It was started by a Chinese company called Byte Dance, that has many Chinese and U.S. investors- one of them being the Chinese government. Proponents of a ban claim personal information from Tik Tok users can be accumulated and used by the Chinese government against America and its citizens.

Sorry, but I don't buy that. Today's Tik Tok is U.S. based. Top officials, from the CEO on down, have nothing to do with China. It has thousands of investors, mostly U.S. citizens, that are making good money, because the app is very appealing to the masses.

Another reason legislators see the need to heavily regulate Tik Tok, is that in their view it poisons the minds of its millions of young users. Much like Instagram, it provides short video clips that sometimes can be political in nature. They claim Hamas, Isis and other radical groups utilize Tik Tok to recruit and influence young audiences.

Couldn't the same, however, be said, about the aforementioned Instagram and Facebook and X and on and on. If we are going to regulate one social media company, then we should regulate them all. That, in this writer's opinion, however, would definitely abuse first amendment rights that we all are afforded in our Constitution.

One of the more sensible member in Congress, send Rand Paul, has brought up to more interesting reasons a Tik Tok ban, or heavy regulations makes no sense. He says"

"TikTok is banned in China," Paul said. "We're thinking – or people who want to ban it are thinking – Wow, we're going to really defeat the Chinese communists, by becoming Chinese authoritarians and banning it in our country? TikTok is banned in China. So, we're going to emulate the Chinese communists by banning it in our country?"

And then he sensibly makes the argument that a ban or regulation would harm American investors. He adds,

"We know that the Chinese government does demand things, but we don't know that any information really is going from TikTok to any of these people in China," he said, noting that a provable crime is necessary to take property from Americans.

Just a side note, there are thousands of American investors. They would take a bath financially if Tik Tok were to be banned or heavily regulated.

Rather than Congress passing more regulatory laws- don't we have enough regulations on our lives- wouldn't it make more sense to encourage parents to regulate their children. It should be their responsibility to know and determine how much social media their children are watching and interacting with.

Parents ought to determine what is right and wrong for their children. Personally, I am tired of government attempting to make those decisions for us. Sure, Tik Tok can poison young minds if they are viewing inappropriate propaganda. But so can X, or Facebook. The key is parental regulation, not government.

Life as Performance Art

G CORWIN STOPPEL

As with so many other parts of life, what was formerly known as suicide has often been tidied up and renamed, "Assisted dying." Not that there is much difference between the two terms; it still makes us uncomfortable.

In western culture, suicide has always abhorred. The ancient Romans considered it to be a serious offense against the person, the family, and the empire. If an individual chose to take their own life, the government confiscated all of their tangible assets, leaving their family with nothing.

Some of the more wicked emperors came up with a way to convert suicide into adding money into the public (the emperor's) coffers. Suicide was against the law, but the emperor would select one or more wealthy individuals and send a messenger to them to tell them that they were about to be arrested for treason. They would be taken in chains to Rome, tried and convicted, all of their assets would be confiscated by the government, and their family would be sold into slavery. Or, they were slowly told they could take their own life, the emperor will still seize all your wealth, but your family can go free. It was not good either way.

Later, the Church and government routine confiscated the assets of those who committed suicide because the government considered suicide to be a serious offense self-murder. The Church claimed that suicide was self-murder, and because the individual could not confess their sins and be absolved after they died, they went to the grave as an unrepentant sinner. Often, that meant the grave was not in a church cemetery and was a source of sorrow and shame for the family.

Attempted suicide is still against the law in many countries, but more recently it has been sanctioned by some governments. However, it is carefully regulated. For example, in some states in this country, a person who is terminally ill with less than six months to live can, with support of his or her doctor, petition the state to be allowed an early exit. But in other countries, most notably Canada, a person can request assisted death for almost any and all reasons. In 2024, a young woman was terribly depressed, saw no real future ahead of her, was very lonely and without friends. She had no physical ailments or terminal illness, and the government agreed to her request.

You and I are rapidly finding ourselves caught in the middle of diametrically opposite moral imperatives. On the one hand suicide or assisted death is the taking of human life; on the other hand, we do not want to see anyone suffer. One is the reverence for life; the other is a concern, if not reverence, for economics under the guise of ending pain.

We have a very long tradition of tremendous reverence for all life, regardless of its quality or an individual's contribution to society. Opposing it, is our belief in personal autonomy. We should, we say, make our own decisions in what we believe is best for us. If I believe that because of medical or other conditions, I cannot live in dignity, then I have the right to bring my life to an end.

The words of the Roman stoic philosopher, Seneca, make great sense in this debate. "It makes a great deal of difference whether a man is lengthening his life or lengthening his death."

A strong argument for assisted death for those suffering from an irrevocable illness is that it spares them and loved ones a lot of pain and helps protect the assets that might be passed on to them rather than the medical profession. The rationale is 'we would never make our pet animal suffer, so why should we insist a human suffer?'

That appears to be humane. After all, none of us wants to spend our final days and hours racked in tremendous pain. We don't want it for anyone. We do not want to spend our final months or years suffering from irreversible dimension.

That may appear to be humane, but there is always the very great potential that it will slip into the dark side. Instead of being allowed to have an assisted death, the decision might be made for us or a loved one, often by the government. This is exactly what happened when the Bavarian corporal ran Germany in the 1930s. Children whose mental capacity was severely diminished and required round the clock care were euthanized by the government. Those who suffered from serious mental or physical illnesses suffered the same fate.

It could happen again, this time, perhaps with variations. In theory, someone who was of advanced age, unable to work or contribute to society, might one day be wheeled out of their home or a care facility, never to return. Or, it could happen for any other reason a government deemed appropriate.

The real question is whether you and I want to live in a society where relief from pain, for some predetermined reason, leads to an expectation of euthanasia. To quote Dickens, society's goal is to "decrease the surplus population" based primarily on economics. Are we willing to allow ourselves to get to a point where enforced assisted death becomes public policy because it is expedient?

I believe there is a very porous wall between mandated life regardless of medical circumstances, and a policy of assisted death. We will be hard pressed to find a one size fits all answer, and that is because we are a product of our own success. A century and a half people often died from appendicitis. Then, physicians and surgeons began removing the offending organ, and the majority of people lived. A century ago, before penicillin, pneumonia was often called, "the old man's friend," because it shortened the life of many elderly patients. Seventy plus years ago the royal physicians, knowing that King George was very near the end, hastened things along with a little extra morphine, so his passing could be announced in the Times rather than the 'low class' tabloids.

Part of the reason we must have these lengthy discussions and debates is because medicine has moved from the majority of physicians general or family practice, to an ever-growing battalion of specialists. Over a century ago, Dr. Will Mayo warned of the dangers of over-relying on specialists at the expenses of wisdom and experience. The older generation of doctors knew their patients, approached final stages of a terminal illness and life with great caution and gentleness.

It may not have been a perfect system, but I think it is far wider and safer than turning a herb of politicians their lobbyists lose on this very sticky moral question. It means that churches and religious groups, advocates for those with serious illnesses, serious mental and/or physical challenges, and advocates for those of advanced age have their work cut out for them. We either make our voices heard, or we will be hearing the voices of others - and we might not like what they are saying.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Stop deforestation of state land

Dear Editor,

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) plans to clear 420 acres of state forest near Gaylord to lease the area for solar development, selling out sportsmen/women for a project officials acknowledge could increase the state's carbon footprint. Scott Whitcomb, the DNR's director of public lands, confirmed the department will soon solicit bids to lease 420 acres in Otsego County's Hayes Township for solar development following an analysis of 1,200 acres near a major power transmission line and adjacent 200-megawatt solar farm on private land.

The decision, he said, is part of a broader plan to lease 4,000 acres of public land across the state to address two pressing issues: dwindling DNR revenues from hunting and fishing license sales, and Democrats' goal of forcing 100% "clean energy" by 2040. Whitcomb acknowledged that the Michigan Healthy Climate Plan, approved by Democrats and Gov. Gretchen Whitmer in 2023, directs officials to "avoid land-use conversion that causes a net increase in emissions and prioritize land uses that reduce emissions."

Research from Harvard University and The Massachusetts Audubon Society highlights how clear-cutting forest land for solar development results in a net increase in carbon by eliminating the only feasible means of removing the element from the atmosphere. The clear-cutting approach also devastates wildlife by fragmenting habitat, impacting biodiversity and climate resilience.

This deforestation will destroy habitats and effectively kill wildlife. Let me make that clear, Whitmer and the DNR are choosing to kill wildlife so they can develop solar fields.

The vast majority of public land in Michigan was purchased with revenues from the state's hunters and anglers, with use restrictions that are supposed to prioritize their interests and wildlife management. The Whitmer administration and the DNR specifically are tasked with protecting our natural resources, instead of initiating this questionably legal scheme.

Many in Michigan on both sides of the aisle are questioning whether the DNR even has the legal or administrative authority to lease public land for private use. Just as the state rightfully holds citizens accountable for their unethical conservation actions – likewise, people are demanding accountability from the Michigan government for their unethical conservation management practices."

With thousands of acres of brownfield properties, thousands of miles of abandoned railroad bed and additional optional sites, it is inexcusable to even consider the use of forest lands or agricultural property for Whitmer's Green Initiative. Once into solar fields these properties will never be reclaimed to their original condition.

Rural areas were always going to bear the brunt of this government overreach, even when a lot of rural areas don't want these projects and their elected officials voted against such programs. What good is so-called green energy when we're cutting down thousands of acres of trees and destroying our agricultural resources to create the infrastructure to support it?"

National debt result of Trump tax cuts

Dear Editor:

In this week's newspaper, Mike Wilcox suggests that he apparently agrees with DOGE, that government spending needs to be curbed. I think most people, including me, would agree with that statement, but the devil is in the details. I remember reading once that a Southern politician one stated that there a number of services people want, but when it comes to paying for them, they seemed to say, "don't tax me, but tax that man behind the tree." He goes on to state that many businesses received pandemic funding, but he couldn't get more for his business. I feel sorry for you, but why do you think you are special? I could be wrong, but I remember reading that a number of politicians received funds for their businesses. Perhaps you have a young newspaper intern who would like to check out Charles Grassley and Marjory Taylor Green to see if their businesses received pandemic funds while they served in Congress.

Mike, you go on to criticize giving money to Ukraine to the tune of $174 billion in military aid plus an additional $4.8 million to them. You are old enough to remember when the United States, United Kingdom and Russia agreed to protect Ukraine if they gave up their nuclear arms so they would not fall into the arms of terrorists. If the United States turns it back on the treaty, why should any country trust the United States on anything in the future. At the same time, you don't seem to care that the United States has given $158 billion to Israel since 1948, plus an additional $3.8 million dollars this year, none of which has to be paid back. Don't you think this has contributed to our enormous deficit? Do you agree that our senior citizen's should have their social security and Medicare cut to reduce the deficit? Do you know that citizens of Israel are entitled to Universal Health Care? How about our citizens receiving Universal Health care?

Finally, you stated that "the biggest waste of money is the interest we are paying each year to support our national debt". I ask you how this wasn't the result of the enormous tax cuts given to the wealthy by Trump and the Republicans during his first term. By the way, they will get to keep their tax cuts after 2025 but the rest of us ordinary citizens will see a massive tax increase because our cuts were "limited" and will soon end.

Sincerely
Eric R. Erickson

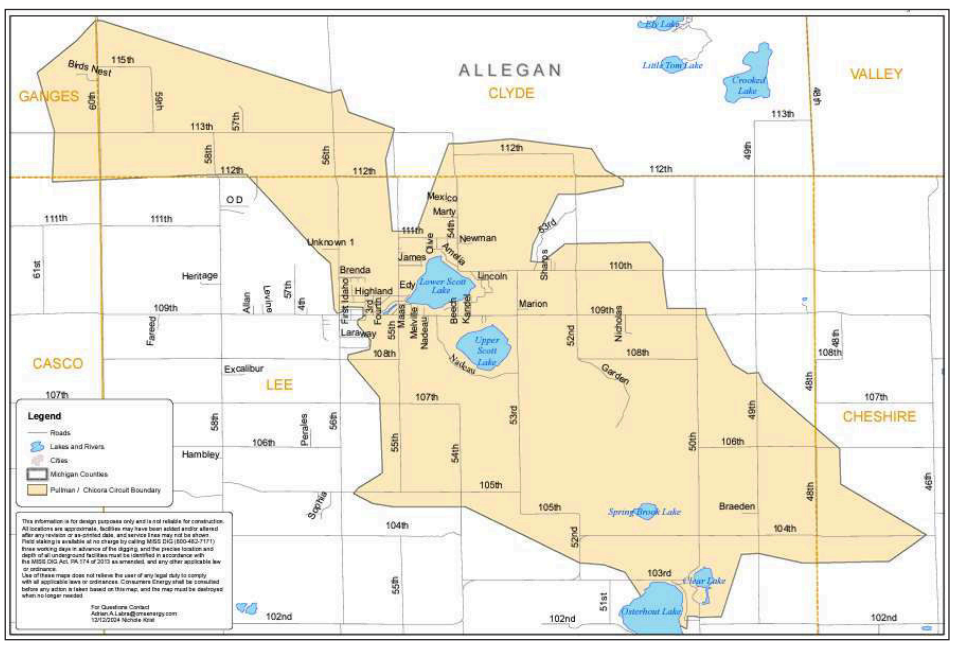
Tree trimming to take place in Pullman area

By Gari Voss



Consumers Energy released their plan to complete maintenance of the power lines through the Pullman area. To reach Consumers' goal of reducing power outages because of trees and/or limbs, foresters and tree trimming crews will work through winter months.

Consumers Energy had contracted tree trimmers busy through 2024, and limbs and trees along lines that had not been maintained for years received attention. Entering winter 2025, the culling continues. Derek Nofz, Community Affairs Area Manager, informed Township administrators in the Pullman area of Consumers' Forestry Line Cleaning Project.

Residents who will be affected by the trimming and removing of trees and brush will receive notification that their property will be affected. At the same time, information was shared on the importance of this work to ensure continued electrical service through the winter.

Winter snow can be beautiful as the flakes accumulate on limbs and trunks of trees along roads and streets. But the weight of the snow and the freeze/thaw cycle can be extremely dangerous. Limbs bend toward high voltage electric lines. Even if the limbs do not break and fall on the lines, they can lay against the lines and cause outages.

Consumers Energy wants everyone to remember what to do if a power line is down or compromised. First, call 9-1-1 and report the location. Second, call 800 477-5050 to speak with Consumers. Finally, NEVER touch the branch, tree or line.

To maintain safety, always assume that a power line is energized and dangerous. Power lines are not insulated, so if touched, they can cause severe injury or death. If a branch or tree is near a power line, call Consumers. Do not attempt to trim the branches or remove the tree or brush. Do not let children climb trees that are near power lines or remove objects that are in trees near lines.

Consumers Energy employs foresters who are members of and certified by the International Society of Arboriculture. They patrol the lines before men and machines come to cut the trees and brush. Taking into consideration distance from lines and health of trees, the forester marks trees or brush for maintenance. A blue dot indicates the tree's branches will be trimmed while a blue X indicates the tree will be cut down. If a tree is outside the easement, it will have a blue A. Brush that will be cleared is marked with a blue slash (/). Not only lines, but secondary voltage conductors and services will be cleared of any tree limbs that rub on conductors.

When the tree service teams come through with their equipment, wood will be left for the property owners to use. Smaller limbs will be chipped and taken away from landscaped areas. Chunks of limbs and trunks will be left for the owner to split for use. Brush in wooded areas will be piled to create habitat for wildlife and impede growth of trees along easements. Mulch might be scattered along the right-of-way on public land. Trees will be cut close to the ground level, and stumps will be sprayed with a herbicide to prevent future growth. Property owners will need to remove low-lying stumps.

Property owners can assist with future powerline maintenance when planning their landscaping. Consumers Energy suggests that no trees should be planted near power lines. The first rule of thumb is to consider the height of the mature tree. Tall trees like maples, oak, willows, blue spruce, white spruce and other pines should be planted no closer than 30 feet from a power line. Medium size trees can be planted 30 feet from a line. Small trees that will mature at 20 feet or less can be planted within a 30-foot distance.

Winter may seem like a strange time to manage nature, but this can be prime time for the crews to achieve the goal to provide adequate clearance, help trees heal, and direct future growth away from electric lines.

As work continues across Allegan County in the Pullman area, remember to give workers and their equipment respect. Working around high voltage lines is dangerous work.

Whenever there is a concern about downed wires, gas emergencies, security concerns or vandalism, call Consumers Energy at 800 477-5050 or through social media such as Facebook, Twitter, etc.

Outstanding educator nominees sought

The Allegan County School Boards Association is once again holding their annual "Outstanding People for Education Award." The purpose of the award is to recognize and honor people in education who are excelling in their field and/or are making an impact in the quality of education in Allegan County.

All nominations are due by Friday, February 28th, 2025, to a local school district office. A nomination must include the name of the nominee, the building or department where the nominee works, the nominee's position, the nominee's home address or phone if known, how the person has made a difference in the quality of education in Allegan County or made a difference in a student's education, the name of the person making the nomination and a request to remain anonymous if desired, and the relationship of the nominator to the nominee.

Examples of those to nominate could include: a teacher, classroom aide, administrator, secretary, board member, volunteer, bus driver, custodian, support staff, social worker, therapist, consultant, community member, or anyone who supports education.

Some things to consider when nominating someone, consider those who have made a difference in the overall quality of education by demonstrating knowledge and skill in their area of responsibility, have developed new or unique programs that enhance the classroom experience, play a leadership role in education, are a true "team player" in the school setting, provides significant support for a program or service, and exhibits an attitude that promotes a positive working and learning environment.

This could also be someone who has made an impact on the quality of an individual student's educational experience by demonstrating sensitivity to the needs of individual students and provides service "above and beyond" their job description.

Nominations can come from anyone - students, parents, school staff and community members - and can also be kept anonymous.

Each school district in the county will appoint a Selection Committee that can select up to three recipients, who will be honored at the ACSBA Recognition Banquet in May. They will each be presented with an award created by local students.

Each school district's Selection Committee will be comprised of at least one administrator, one board member, one teacher, and one support staff. Final approval is granted by ACSBA. The Allegan County School's Communication Team coordinates this award.

Certified pesticide applicator exam set for Allegan

Becoming a certified pesticide applicator in Michigan is essential to apply restricted use pesti-cides in agricultural, commercial or residential settings. Certification guarantees that applicators are knowledgeable about safety, proper pesticide usage and adherence to state regulations.

Individuals who would like to take their core review, aerial standard, or fumigation standard ex-ams can do so on Monday, Jan. 13, at the Allegan County Human Services building, 3255 122nd Ave., Allegan. No commercial category tests will be offered on this date.

Check-in for the program is 8 to 8:30 a.m. The Core review class covers all the chapters of the Na-tional Pesticide Applicators Certification Core Manual and will take place from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. After lunch, MDARD will begin the testing session at approximately 1 p.m.

If individuals miss the Jan. 13 date, core exams and review sessions will take place across the state until May. See all testing dates and more information on pesticide credits at: canr.msu.edu/psep/.

The five-member body will elect a chair and a vice chair to preside over its meetings. The Allegan County Road Commission will hold its annual January meetings with township governments this week. Scheduled for Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Jan 7,8 and 9, respectively, the 7p.m. meetings are organized by regions of the county.

The meetings review the proposed projects for the year and in future years.

Letters to the editor

Millionaires need to pay their fair share

Editor,

While I share our editor's concern that adding to our national debt is increasingly unsustainable I can't say that I share the irrational exuberance that he and others place on the quixotically called "Department of Government Efficiency" headed by Elon Musk and Vivek Ramaswamy.

If a recent editorial in the Allegan County News is any indication most of the instances of "waste" cited was penny ante stuff that was snuck onto more important legislation by local congressmen answering to the more parochial concerns of their constituents and without legislative powers what does anyone think will come of DOGE recommendations.

The biggest item cited was aid to Ukraine to support it's war against unprovoked Russian aggression which I think is justifiable because not only have our national interests never aligned with Russia but also because of the botch they made of their invasion they've had to seek help from both China and North Korea which keeps both of them off balance all of which is to our advantage. Money well spent as we are not Ukraine's sole supporting ally.

The real problem with solving our national debt is the current focus on solving it solely through cuts to services that will mostly negatively impact the middle class (us) while ignoring increasing revenue through raising the top tax bracket which is currently at 37% to 90% which it was in the 1950's.

Does Trump and Musk want to "Make America Great Again"? Let them step up to pay their fair share. Same for the health insurance guy who was making 10 million dollars a year before coming to an untimely end on a New York street. Brian Niccol, CEO of Starbuck's, is set to make 23 million dollars in 2025 while his baristas can't afford housing. Have we forgotten Warren Buffet's pointing out that under the current tax codes his secretary pays more in taxes than he does?

Want to save Social Security? Why should those who make over $400,000 a year not have to pay taxes on income above that amount?

Want to "Make America Great Again"?

Wake up!

Faces in the Crowd

By G C Stoppel

The day after Christmas a friend observed, "It's still 364 days until Christmas, and already people have their lights put up!" This week's question: When do you take down your lights and decorations?

-Woman at a gas station on M-89: "The tree came down a day or so after Christmas. It was getting dry and we thought it might be a fire hazard."

-Friend with her: "Oh, my cats took mine down. I got all the ornaments and lights off and then tied some little bags with catnip in it. They had fun. We have a friend who has goats, and they'll snarf it right down."

-Man near the Fennville hardware store: "When I get around to it, I guess. I don't want to do it if it is too cold, that's for sure."

-Another man, same location: "Well, you see, when you don't have many put up, then you don't have so many to take down.. And when you didn't put any up….." Big smile.

-Woman near the Allegan pharmacy: Winces. "Oh, I hate taking them down. They are so pretty, but I guess they'll get old after a while."

-Couple near the Allegan library; Woman: "Not until the 5th of January. Always." Man: "What she says."

-Young woman and mother outside the library: "We took them down on the 28th. Momma said she was tired of the clutter."

-Woman near the Episcopal Church. "I've got a friend in California, and she has an artificial tree she leaves up all year. She changes the decorations for each holiday."

-Man near the Huntington Bank: "Well, when we were young, our mother said that we had to take down the tree after the last Christmas cookie was eaten. We tried to make it last, but pretty soon…. I think she ate the last one when we were in school."

-Older couple near Pizza Hut. Man: "Oh, I don't know that we have a specific date or nothing like that. One day we just think we ought to put everything away, and we do it."

-Young man near the optometry: "We had this old !@@#$%^& of a neighbor across the street. He was always complaining about one thing or another, so we kept the lights up until March one year. He called the cops on us a few times, but there was nothing they could do about it." Laughed.

-Middle aged man near Minnie's: "I don't rush to get the inflatables up, and then I keep a close eye on the weather and take them down real quick-like if it turns bad. Those things are expensive."

-Couple near the Allegan Post Office. Woman: "When we get around to it. I like to leave the icicle lights up until the snow melts. It's easier to see the steps with them on, but just at night."

Review: The Heart of Winter

By Terri Schlichenmeyer

"The Heart of Winter"

by Jonathan Evison

c.2024, Dutton

$28.00 • 358 pages

To have and to hold from this day forward.

It's a promise made on a happy day, for richer or poorer, for better for worse. Those vows mean that you're bound to someone you'll love, honor, and cherish, in sickness and in health. As in the new novel, "The Heart of Winter" by Jonathan Evison, those promises last for as long as you both shall live.

The moment Abe Winter laid eyes on Ruth Warneke, he was twitterpated. Smitten.

It was 1953, and Ruth was unique: smart, confident, outspoken, a woman among girls at her college. Abe pursued her clumsily, but he eventually won her over.

She was pregnant when they married in 1954 and in a few short years, there were three small children in the household. Abe became a busy insurance salesman with his own office, and he eagerly purchased a small farm outside Seattle on which to raise the kids. Ruth gave up her dreams of poetry and Paris to become a wife and mother, and she was resentful.

Through the decades, there were indiscretions (Ruth's) and blatantly thoughtless actions (Abe's). There was a surprise fourth child, just when they thought their family was complete. There'd been friendships, hurts, loss, and healing, the "kids" were grown and gone and had grandkids of their own now..

As Abe celebrated his ninetieth birthday with family, he believed that it would be his last and he silently thought about tying up loose ends so his "Ruthie" and their old dog, Megs, could get along without him. Seventy years was a long time together, a long time to be married to someone, but Abe couldn't imagine a different life.

Their vows said for richer or poorer. In sickness and health.

They'd stay that way until death they would part…

The first thing you need to know about "The Heart of Winter" is that you may cry. It's not going to be a major snot-cry, but you might expect tears. Bring tissues, in case.

Spanning two generations and seventy-plus years in an ordinary marriage, author Jonathan Evison tells a comfortable, not-so-ordinary tale of love and patience made uniquely special because his characters have such rich lives and big flaws. All of them, in fact, are imperfectly human and individually crafted with nuances that feel exactly right, given their positions within the tale, good, bad, and both. One of them appears, though she's not really even there.

This realism – surely, we all know somebody like Abe and Ruth, like their children, like their friends – makes this novel surprisingly emotional and, for some readers, could make it hit pretty close to home. Also, know that if you hate such things, this novel isn't maudlin or sappy or convoluted. Instead, like real life, it twists and unwinds perfectly.

If a love story that's not quite a romance is what you want to start your new year, this dance with your reading soul is it. For you, "The Heart of Winter" is a novel you'll want to have and to hold.

Monterey Community 4-H send a warm Thank You

By Don Berens & Gari Voss

As the Allegan County Fair approached in September, information was sent to businesses and individuals who had supported 4-H and/or supported the 4-Hers who had prepared entries for the Fair. Creating crafts or sewing a quilt is one thing, but raising cows, pigs, goats, sheep, and poultry requires another group of skills.

When an animal comes to the auction block, the 4-Her has put in hours of feeding, cleaning, and rehearsing for shows. They have even created a notebook about their project. Each participant hopes that his/her animal shows properly and brings the best market price possible.

To all who attended the Wednesday Animal Auction during the Fair, the Monterey Community 4-H Club reaches out with a special thank you. For those who purchased, double the thank you. The 4-Hers are proud of their entries and hope you get enjoyment from their work.

Have a Wonderful New Year!

Plainwell boys swim & dive team breaks in new pool

By Jason Wesseldyk
Sports Editor

Christmas was over, but members of the Plainwell boys swim & dive team got one more gift on Monday, Dec. 30.

That's when the team took its first plunge into the district's new pool, which is one of the centerpieces of the new field house.

"Honestly, it is so surreal," Plainwell swim & dive coach Andrea Murphy said of being in the new pool. "I still can't believe it."

Plainwell junior Sam Harper

Murphy, a Plainwell High School graduate, starting her coaching career at Allegan High School before coming back "home." One of her goals for the district and the community in general was to help secure funding for a new pool.

That funding came as part of a bond proposal that voters passed in 2019.

The field house also includes a new gymnasium and an indoor walking track.

"We are so grateful to our community for supporting this project," Murphy said. "I can't wait for everyone to see it."

Murphy's swimmers, like junior Sam Harper, share her enthusiasm for the new pool.

"The new pool is very exciting to swim in and brings a new and different energy to practice," Harper said. "I think it will make our team better with all of the new equipment, starting blocks and team room."

The starting blocks mentioned by Harper are state-of-the-art, according to Murphy.

"(The new blocks) will help with our starts and relays," Murphy said.

The main benefit of the new pool—which includes eight lanes and a separate diving area—is its size, Murphy said.

"With the number of lanes we have, we can have high quality practices instead of swimming over each other," she said. "We can spread the team out and have focus groups. We can also get our club and middle school teams in here earlier and home earlier rather than 8:30 at night."

Diving coach Lynne Seibert couldn't be happier about the dedicated diving area and the possibilities it presents.

"Lynne is excited that the diving boards are in a separate place to ensure safety," Murphy said. "She also really enjoys the brand new boards and how effortlessly the fulcrum moves. On a side note, she did help design the platform."

When it comes to the highlights of the new pool, a big one for Murphy are the windows that allow in natural light.

"The best part is when the sun comes cascading in," she said.

Other features of the new pool include:

* A reception office in the front where people can get info, pay and check in for programs and another office in the back for staff.
* An officials/lifeguard room.
* A family locker room.
* A "beautiful" hospitality room/classroom that can host parties and provide a space for lifeguard classes.
* A timing office.
* A shower by the diving boards for divers to stay warm.

"We also have suit spinners," Murphy added.

Murphy stressed the difference between the new pool and the old one.

"We loved our old pool, and it did a great job for many years and has produced a lot of great athletes and memories for our community," Murphy said. "But she is old and tired and wasn't going to make it much longer.

"I am so excited for the new facility and expanding our programs. We have so much more room in the pool. We will be able to provide more consistent programs year-round for our community and hopefully expand more."

And while she is excited about what the new pool offers to her teams, Murphy is equally as pleased with the impact it will have on the community.

"I am hoping that they will come check out our programs," Murphy said of community members. "We have had to shudder a lot during the transition period, so I am excited to get everything back up and running and then add some.

"Once we fully open, we will be able to offer the community the option of pool party rentals, aqua aerobics, masters swim class, open swim and noon lap swim with the goal to have morning and evening lap swims."

In addition, all three Plainwell elementary schools—Starr, Gilkey and Cooper—are able to offer swim lessons for its students along with the middle school and high school gym classes.

Hamilton boys wrestling takes fourth at Falcon Invitational in Allendale

By Jason Wesseldyk
Sports Editor

ALLENDALE—Tough competition.

That's what Hamilton wrestling coach Trenton Holyfield was hoping for when he took his team to the Falcon Invitational in Allendale on Saturday, Jan. 4.

And that's exactly what the Hawkeyes got, as Hamilton placed fourth out of 16 teams.

"We knew going in that this tournament would be our toughest competition all season," Holyfield said. "All of our best wrestlers were challenged, and we are grateful for that as it gives them an idea of where they stand."

Seven Hawkeyes emerged with top-six finishes in their respective weight classes, led by a pair of champions.

Malachi Kapenga—fresh off recording the 150th win of his career the previous week—took top honors at 138 pounds, while Jake Chase was first at f165.

Chase Morrison (113 pounds), Bryce Morrison (150 pounds), Trace Lopez (157 pounds) and Shane Dams (285 pounds) all earned third-place finishes.

Tyler Block was sixth at 175 pounds.

The previous day, Hamilton's girls team traveled to Three Rivers for an individual tournament. A total of 22 team were represented in the girls division, and three Hawkeyes placed in the top four of respective weight classes.

Korra Kapenga was the top finisher at 115 pounds, while Ana Ruggles won at 130 pounds. Alyssa Volkers was fourth at 135 pounds.

Hopkins basketball teams compete at Van Andel Arena

GRAND RAPIDS—The Hopkins boys and girls basketball team's started the new year in style, taking on Godwin Heights at the Van Andel Arena in downtown Grand Rapids on Thursday, Jan. 2.

And it was a split decision for the Vikings.

The Hopkins girls won in the opener of the two games by a score of 42-20, while the Hopkins boys fell 73-52.

The games marked the start of OK Silver play.

In the girls game, the trio of Cora Hall, Ava VanderVeen and Reegan Helderop led a balanced scoring attack for the Vikings.

Hall led all scorers with nine points, while VanderVeen and Helderop were close behind with eight points each.

Alyssa Bracelin chipped in with five points for Hopkins.

The victory snapped a five-game skid for the Hopkins girls, upping the team's record to 2-5.

The Hopkins boys, meanwhile, slipped to 2-7. The Vikings had been hoping to secure consecutive wins for the first time this season after besting Grand River Prep 65-52 six days earlier.

"We gave them a good fight, but ultimately we just didn't have enough offense to keep up with them," Hopkins boys coach Jake Jewett said of the Godwin Heights game. "We always know when we play Godwin that they're going to be very athletic and pressure us.

"We handled the pressure really well, but just couldn't get enough scoring going in the second half."

The Hopkins boys found themselves down 20-12 after one quarter and 36-24 at halftime. The Vikings did hold a 20-19 scoring edge in the third quarter, but Godwin put the game away by outscoring Hopkins 18-8 in the final frame.

Cruz Hitzler led the Vikings with 15 points. Trent Smith added 10 points in the loss.

And while disappointed with the outcome of the game, Jewett was happy that his team had the opportunity to play at a venue like Van Andel Arena.

"It was a really cool experience for our guys to be able to play at Van Andel," he said. "They had a lot of fun, and it will for sure be a memorable experience for them."

GRAND RAPIDS—Another weekend, another tournament championship for the Allegan boys wrestling team.

One week after earning the top spot in the Comstock Invitational, the Tigers finished first at the West Catholic Dunneback Memorial Tournament on Saturday, Jan. 3.

"The team has made a great start to the season so far," Allegan coach Chase Beard said.

Six Allegan wrestlers finished first in their respective weight class, led by returning state qualifier Treydan VanderKooi at 144 pounds.

Other champions for the Tigers were champions Sully Morgan at 106, Cooper Prentice at 120, Luke Wedge at 138, Landon Coulson at 150 and Aiden Pearce at 157.

Not to be outdone, the Allegan girls also took first place in their division.

Dawn DeGood, a returning state qualifier, led the charge by winning at 140 pounds.

Serenity Puente at 115 pounds and Miya Carter at 125 pounds were each runner-up.

Girls postseason events set MHSAA attendance record

A record number of spectators at girls postseason events during the 2023-24 school year pushed Michigan High School Athletic Association attendance past 1.4 million fans for the second straight, with the total of 471,651 spectators for girls competitions.

The previous all-time best for attendance for girls sports was set in 2014-15.

In total, MHSAA tournament events drew 1,449,574 spectators at competitions for which admission is charged. That represented just over a half-percent decrease from 2022-23, but was still the second highest overall postseason attendance over the last seven years.

Attendance at MHSAA boys tournament events during 2023-24 was 1,008,070, a three-percent decrease from the year before. The MHSAA annually tracks attendance for all sports except golf, skiing and tennis, as single tickets are not sold for those sports.

Record spectator turnout for the softball and track & field tournaments drove the girls overall increase.

Softball set an overall tournament record with 49,636 fans, besting the previous record set just the year before by nearly 2,000. Softball also set an individual-round record with 4,935 fans at Quarterfinals.

Track & Field—with girls and boys competing together—drew a record 42,899 spectators overall, and a Regional record of 25,661. Both track totals bested previous records set during the 2020-21 school year.

Several more sports saw attendance increases during 2023-24:

* Girls basketball overall postseason attendance was up significantly and for the third-straight year, this time to 158,126 fans for a nine-percent increase from 2022-23.

* The Individual Wrestling Tournament drew 48,237 fans, an eight-percent increase from the previous season, and set records at the District (13,308) and Regional (11,089) levels.

Overall attendance for competitive cheer (29,297, up 12 percent), girls lacrosse (5,627, up six percent), boys lacrosse (17,107, up less than one percent) and boys swimming & diving (6,116, up 33 percent) all were up as well from 2022-23.

Competitive cheer's increase was keyed in part by record attendance at the District level (14,528). Baseball Districts (36,553), Boys Lacrosse Quarterfinals (3,021) and Girls Diving Regionals (879) also set records.

Football remains the most-attended MHSAA Tournament sport and drew 363,563 spectators for its playoff series—a decrease of nearly five percent from the previous year. Still, football did have the highest attendance during the Semifinal rounds (32,596) since 2012-13.

Boys basketball attendance again ranked second at 280,800 fans, down four percent from the previous year but with increases for the Regional and Quarterfinal rounds.

Girls basketball remained third for overall attendance and first among girls sports, followed again by volleyball, which drew 113,239 fans. That was only 313 fans fewer than the year before as postseason attendance in that sport has seen less than a percentage point change year to year over the last three seasons.

MHSAA announces changes for winter sports season

With Christmas break now over, the 2024-25 winter sports season will get back into full swing for high school in Allegan County and throughout the state.

Spectators will notice some changes in various sports this season as compared to years past, as announced by the Michigan High School Athletic Association.

For starters, this marks the first season in which an MHSAA Finals team championship will be awarded in girls wrestling.

After first introducing a girls championship bracket to the Individual Wrestling Finals for the 2021-22 season, the MHSAA will honor its first team champion based on those individual finishes. The format will be similar to how MHSAA team championships were awarded for boys wrestling prior to the creation of the dual format Team Finals with the 1987-88 season.

Also on the wrestling mat, a competition rule change alters the penalty for using a wrestler at an ineligible weight class, dependent on when the ineligible wrestler is discovered.

Beginning this season, the use of an ineligible wrestler—if discovered during the involved match—will result in six team points being awarded to the opponent, plus the head coach of the team with the ineligible wrestler will be assessed an unsportsmanlike conduct penalty resulting in a one-point team score deduction.

If the ineligible wrestler is discovered after the involved match, any points earned by the offending wrestler will be removed from the team score, along with the point for unsportsmanlike conduct, and six points will be added to the offended team's total.

In both instances, neither wrestler involved in the match in question may compete again in that dual. If the ineligible wrestler is discovered after the dual is completed, the teams have left the mat area and the scorebook has been signed by the official, the results and team score will stand.

A pair of other rule changes in wrestling also will be immediately noticeable.

The number of match points awarded for a takedown was increased from two to three. Also, near-fall points will now be awarded based on the number of seconds during which the near-fall criteria are met—beginning with two points for two seconds, up to four points for four seconds.

Postseasons for basketball and bowling also will incorporate slight changes.

In basketball, entire District brackets will be seeded for the first time, instead of the previous top two teams receiving seeds only. Michigan Power Ratings (MPR) data will still be used to seed those full brackets.

In bowling, Regionals may now take place as early in the week as Wednesday and Thursday, as long as the Team and Singles competitions are competed on consecutive days. Previously, those took place only on Fridays and Saturdays, respectively.

The 2024-25 Winter campaign culminates with postseason tournaments, as the championship schedule begins with the Upper Peninsula Girls & Boys Swimming & Diving Finals on Feb. 15 and wraps up with the Girls Basketball Finals on March 22. Here is a complete list of winter tournament dates:

Representative Council receives reports during Fall Meeting last month

The Representative Council of the Michigan High School Athletic Association received reports on the upcoming sponsorship of two recently-added sports, provided support for a study group to discuss the number of postseason divisions for several more sports, and elected a new president for the first time in a decade during its Fall Meeting last month in East Lansing.

Generally, the Council takes only a few actions during its Fall Meeting, with topics often introduced for additional consideration and action during its meetings in March and May. The Council took only one action at this meeting but began conversations on several topics that will be continued throughout the remainder of this school year.

The lone action regarded baseball and a previously-approved requirement for teams to submit their pitch counts online beginning with the Spring 2025 season. The Council approved a one-year delay in that requirement to allow more time for technology development and implementation.

The Council received reports on two sports set to begin with MHSAA sponsorship with the 2025-26 school year—girls field hockey and boys volleyball.

The first Girls Field Hockey Committee has met and will be sending several proposals to the Council for action during its March meeting in preparation for the Fall 2025 season. The Volleyball Committee will meet soon with potential proposals for boys volleyball coming before the Council in March or May.

MHSAA staff led a discussion regarding the number of postseason divisions for baseball, basketball, Lower Peninsula cross country, softball, Lower Peninsula track & field and volleyball, which are all sponsored by at least 550 schools.

The conversation included data from a 2023 Update Meeting poll question that addressed the topic and discussions that took place during MHSAA sport committee meetings during the 2023-24 school year. The Council discussed if adding fifth divisions to those sports is necessary or desirable and gave support for MHSAA staff to form a study group on the topic and provide a report to the Council during its May 2025 meeting.

Council members discussed social media issues that had arisen in the school sports community over the last several months, and how member schools should address these situations and the role the MHSAA should play in communicating with all schools involved in specific instances.

The Council also received updates from the MHSAA's Sports Medicine Advisory Committee and discussed several matters related to recently completed fall tournaments, broadcast partnerships, MHSAA Athletic Director Update Meeting and In-Service Programs and other administrative topics.

The Fall Meeting also saw elections of Council officers for the upcoming year.

Midland assistant principal and athletic director Eric Albright was elected president, as retired Grand Haven Superintendent Scott Grimes completed his tenure on the Council and 10th and final term as president. Brighton High School athletic director John Thompson was reelected as Council vice president, and Vic Michaels, director of physical education and athletics for the Archdiocese of Detroit, was reelected as secretary-treasurer.

Additionally, Westland John Glenn athletic director Jason Malloy was appointed for a second two-year term on the Council. Monica Merritt, superintendent for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, was appointed for a first two-year term.

The Representative Council is the legislative body of the MHSAA. All but five members are elected by member schools.

Four members are appointed by the Council to facilitate representation of females and minorities, and the 19th position is occupied by the Superintendent of Public Instruction or designee.

Oldest living graduate helps build new school: Ground-breaking ceremonies for the new $343,000 elementary school building in Plainwell were held Tuesday morning with Mrs. Marha Crispe, 82, the oldest living graduate of PH3, present to turn the first shovel of dirt. Her graduation date was June 4, 1884.

Mrs. Crispe was ready for the occasion, waking a little after 6 a.m. just to be ready for the 9:15 event. She was interested from the very beginning of the proposal and stood in a crowded line to cast her vote at the polls of the special election August 4, which carried 3 to 1. She says this is not the first, but the third school—not counting the six Plainwell bridges—she has helped build "with her tongue and her taxes."

Although she has no children of her own, she claims all the children of the city as hers and is concerned over the present crowded conditions.

Besides the high school and Bridge Street school, classes are held in both the Baptist and Methodist churches in the area.

Allegan nurses take 'road to Morocco': Despite marriage proposals from young Moroccan suitors, two local nurses are back in Allegan living in their Grand Street apartment and reliving their 10-day tour of the North African kingdom and short tour of Madrid, Spain.

The two Allegan General Hospital licensed practical nurses, Linda Banks and Elizabeth Church, returned from the tour with a multitude of colored photographs, handwoven camel hair and wool blankets, soft leather pouch bags made from camel hide, a hand-woven rug and other paraphernalia.

They said they enjoyed the unique shopping experiences in the outdoor markets where they bartered with the locals who pitched tents in the streets to sell their wares.

The style of eating was unique too—they ate the foods, usually prepared with olive oil, with their fingers. Though they were offered handwashing facilities when they entered the casinos, they had only napkins to clean up with after the meals.

Students learn farm career skills: Hopkins FFA members, along with more than 160 FFA members from across the state, received in-depth leadership training and learned specific skills necessary within careers in agriculture and natural resources recently in Mt. Pleasant.

The Michigan Farm Bureau sponsored the Careers and Leadership Conference, where 40 FFA chapters attended. Representing Hopkins were Christine Bartz, Alisha Norman, Shannon Knapp and Ben Schaendorf.

"The Careers and Leadership Conference is a great way for FFA members to learn more about agriculture careers," said John Walter, manager of the Young Famer Department at Michigan Farm Bureau. "Members got to hear firsthand from college students, advisors and professors as to what to work on when looking for a career in the field of agriculture."

The members heard from a panel of professionals within the agricultural sector and had a chance to ask questions about their careers and how they got into their individual profession.

Students also had a chance to hear from peers in the state discussion meet finals, as a panel of six FFA members discussed issues facing agriculture and natural resources.

Fire destroys Otsego barn: Employees of Vande Bunte Eggs-operated Konos Farms in Otsego Township could only stare in disbelief as a towering pillar of black smoke poured into the sky from one of several barns.

They had evacuated the poultry farm at 2127 110th Av. At approximately 11 a.m. Friday, Jan. 3, as fire crews from throughout the region were dispatched to prevent the fire from spreading.

The blaze ended up consuming one of the two cage-free egg barns, housing egg-laying hens.

"Emergency responders from Otsego and 15 other communities brought water and fought the fire," said Konos spokesman Brian Burch. "Their efforts contained the fire to Barn B, protecting Barn A and the lives of more than 250,000 hens."

He said Barn B contained nearly 300,000 hens, which died in the fire. Barns A and B contained roughly 550,000 hens at the time of the fire. The farm supplies more than 13 million cage-free eggs per year to grocery stores and restaurants across Michigan.

"The facility was largely saved," Burch said. "All of the office, distribution, refrigeration was protected. It's a very good result given how serious the fire was."

Otsego fire Chief Brandon Weber said Friday the fire's severity and the size of the facility would make it nearly impossible to determine the cause of the fire.

Burch confirmed all of the facility's 50 employees were safe and accounted for and injuries were minor.

WHEREAS, on December 21, 2012, a certain Mortgage was executed by Floyd Bowlby, Trustee of the Floyd Bowlby Trust U/A/D August 29, 2009 as mortgagor in favor of Mortgage Electronic Registration Systems, Inc (MERS) as nominee for American Advisors Group as mortgagee, and was recorded on January 9, 2013, in Liber 3694, on Page 727, in the Register of Deeds, Allegan County, Michigan; and

WHEREAS, the Mortgage was insured by the United States Secretary of Housing and Urban Development (the Secretary) pursuant to the National Housing Act for the purpose of providing single family housing; and

WHEREAS, the mortgage is now held by the United States Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, through mesne assignments as documented by an Assignment of Mortgage dated July 20, 2020, and recorded on September 21, 2020, in Liber 4512 on Page 987.

WHEREAS, the mortgage at Paragraph (9)(b)(i) states that Lender may require immediate payment in full of all sums secured by this Security Instrument if the property ceases to be the principal residence of a borrower for reasons other than death and the property is not the principal residence of at least one other Borrower; and

WHEREAS, the entire amount delinquent as of December 9, 2024 is $90,977.65; and

WHEREAS, by virtue of this default, the Secretary has declared the entire amount of the indebtedness secured by the Mortgage to be immediately due and payable;

NOW THEREFORE, pursuant to powers vested in me by the Single Family Mortgage Foreclosure Act of 1994, 12 U.S.C. 3751 et seq., by 24 CFR part 27, subpart B, and by the Secretary's designation of me as Foreclosure Commissioner, recorded on August 2, 2024 in Book 4962, Page 660.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on Thursday, February 6, 2025 at 9:00 am local time, the real property located in the Township of Otsego, County of Allegan, State of Michigan, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder:

Lot 7, River Grove Subdivision, in the Northwest quarter of Section 21 and the Northeast quarter of Section 20, Town 1 North, Range 12 West, Otsego Township, Allegan County Michigan. Excepting Liens and Conveyances affecting right of way in Liber 299 Deeds, on Page 505.

Commonly known as: 552 19th St, Otsego, MI 49078

Tax Parcel ID# 17-480-007-00

The sale will be held at Allegan County Courthouse, which is located at 113 Chestnut St., Allegan, MI 49010.

The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development may bid any amount up to and including the total debt at the date as of the date of the sale, plus any and all amounts recoverable under the provision of the mortgage.

There will be no proration of taxes, rents or other income or liabilities, except that the purchaser will pay, at or before closing, his prorata share of any real estate taxes that have been paid by the Secretary to the date of the foreclosure sale.

When making their bids, all bidders except the Secretary must submit a deposit totaling 10% of the successful bid the form of a certified check or cashier's check made payable to Secretary of HUD. A deposit need not accompany each oral bid. If the successful bid is oral, a deposit of 10% must be presented before the bidding is closed. The deposit is nonrefundable. The remainder of the purchase price must be delivered within 30 days of the sale or at such other time as the Secretary may determine for good cause shown, time being of the essence. This amount, like the bid deposits, must be delivered in the form of a certified or cashier's check. If the Secretary is the highest bidder, he need not pay the bid amount in cash. The successful bidder will pay all conveying fees, all real estate and other taxes that are due on or after the delivery date of the remainder of the payment and all other costs associated with the transfer of title. At the conclusion of the sale, the deposits of the unsuccessful bidders will be returned to them.

The Secretary may grant an extension of time within which to deliver the remainder of the payment. All extensions will be for 15-day increments for a fee of $500.00, paid in advance. The extension fee shall be in the form of a certified or cashier's check made payable to the Secretary of HUD. If the high bidder closes the sale prior to the expiration of any extension period, the unused portion of the extension fee shall be applied toward the amount due.

If the high bidder is unable to close the sale within the required period, or within any extensions of time granted by the Secretary, the high bidder may be required to forfeit the cash deposit or, at the election of the foreclosure commissioner after consultation with the HUD representative, will be liable to HUD for any costs incurred as a result of such failure. The Commissioner may, at the direction of the HUD representative, offer the property to the second highest bidder for an amount equal to the highest price offered by that bidder.

There is no right of redemption, or right of possession based upon a right of redemption, in the mortgagor or others subsequent to a foreclosure completed pursuant to the Act. Therefore, the Foreclosure Commissioner will issue a Deed to the purchaser(s) upon receipt of the entire purchase price in accordance with the terms of the sale as provided herein. HUD does not guarantee that the property will be vacant.

The scheduled foreclosure sale shall be cancelled or adjourned if it is established, by documented written application of the mortgagor to the Foreclosure Commissioner not less than 3 days before the date of sale, or otherwise, that the default or defaults upon which the foreclosure is based did not exist at the time of service of this notice of default and foreclosure sale.

The mortgage cannot be "reinstated" prior to the sale, as the event accelerating the loan was not a default in payments. Payment of the entire outstanding balance of the mortgage debt is required to stop the foreclosure. The "outstanding balance" includes amounts that would be due under the mortgage agreement if payments under the mortgage had not been accelerated, including publication costs, posting costs and postage expenses incurred in giving notice, mileage by the most reasonable road distance for posting notices, reasonable and customary costs incurred for title and lien record searches, the necessary out-of-pocket costs incurred by the Foreclosure Commissioner for recording documents, a commission for the Foreclosure and all other costs incurred in connection with the foreclosure prior to the sale.

EQUAL HOUSING LENDER

RELIGION SECTION

By G C Stoppel

We have all been around someone who is unhappy and clearly shows it by stamping their feet, whining, fussing, complaining, and lashing out. When it is someone who is younger, we are slightly more understanding than if it is an adult. We expect greater maturity from adults. Once, when the daughter of some good friends was acting up, her mother took her aside, sat her down and said, "A princess does not stomp her feet or make faces or cry in public when someone hurts her feelings. She is silent and gives an icy stare. When we get home, we make other plans so we do not have to see them again. I believe I have made myself clear." The answer was, of course, "Yes, Mommy."

Another time I watched as a father looked at his son, disappointed at his behavior, and quietly asked, "When are you going to grow up and show some responsibility?"

All too often it seems as if children will never grow up and become responsible mature adults. But when we listen to the news or many conversations of public concern, it seems that the Olds are acting more like children than children. They yell, scream, threaten, and talk over others so they can get their way. The spooky thing is when we see it in ourselves.

The good news is that all of us, with faith in God's presence in our life, can grow into maturity. We read that message many times over in the Epistles, especially in St Paul's letter about being a bona fide grown up, especially one who professes a faith in Jesus.

That is good news; the not so good news is that it often takes a group of people to help a child or adult become mature. I saw this one time at a yacht club. At first I thought I had stepped through a time warp into a by-gone era. Young people were introducing themselves, calling adults Mr and Mrs and Miss. Older children were spending time with the younger ones. Not a mobile phone was in sight. I asked a friend about this, and her comment was interesting, "You'll see this at horse shows, as well. That's because the children know they have a purpose..

The problem is that there are fewer and fewer people who are willing to serve as unofficial mentors. Church attendance is down by some 35 per cent over the past few years. Membership in some of the civic and fraternal organizations has plummeted by 50 per cent. It is even difficult to get people to come together for a picnic.

If we are going to experience maturity and face the challenges of our world, we need to incorporate older adults who know that God loves them and wants only what is best for them. Second, we need parents who are far more willing to give of themselves, their time, treasure and resources, than to receive anything in return. And finally, we need older people to find and take advantage of opportunities to share their experiences and wisdom with others.

Church seems like the perfect forum
